

Cut along flaps, fold under and glue together to make CD envelope.

Hmmm... A CD of DWARF "rarities." These are songs that have been floating around for some time, left (perhaps very wisely) unreleased. Most of these songs have been rerecorded to sound much better than what is on this CD. So, why then go on and release a CD of inferior recordings when much better versions exist? Mostly because for some silly reason, I still listen to these versions on occasion. Perhaps someone else may find these versions to be interesting to listen to (in spite of their poor sound quality). Oh! Massive, Massive, Macho Man, and Elaborations are from the "Summer Entertainment" era. Melody Undecided is from the "John Lyons Sessions" era. The first version features Ben Jaques. This is 2657 Productions D0008.